

ABOUT US

Enda O'Connor and Peter O'Dea have travelled to the most exotic parts of the globe but they still call West Limerick home. Both have recently returned from round the world trips to such far flung paradise as Hawaii, New Zealand, Australia, Vietnam, Cambodia, Indonesia and India. Ask either of them though and they will tell you that they are delighted to be home and are chomping at the bit to make a success of their new business venture.

O'Connor O'Dea Solicitors has its main office at South Quay, Newcastle West with appointments available in both Rathkeale and Abbeyfeale. Enda and Peter, both qualified solicitors decided to take the plunge and set up their own practice over the long cold winter just passed. They want their practice to be one where the client is the most valuable resource and have set about building their practice in such a way that it is possible for them to achieve this aspiration.

O'Connor O'Dea Solicitors have promised a same day response to all clients' queries. If you leave a message with them at 5 o'clock in the evening you will get a call back that evening even if it's outside of the normal working hours. They realise that the world doesn't stop turning at 5pm and are they determined to focus on client care at every opportunity. Their offices are equipped with state of the art technology, software and case management systems so that more of their individual time can be spent on your file. They can also gain access to their clients files remotely when out of the office. Just because they are in court doesn't mean they are not able to access your file and work on it.

Enda a native of Killeedy trained as a solicitor with Lynch and Partners Solicitors in Clonmel. He qualified in 2009 and practised for a time thereafter. He practiced across a broad range of legal areas but in particular, he worked in the Litigation Department. This whetted his appetite for the area of Personal Injury Litigation, Criminal litigation, Debt Collection, and Employment Law. He also deals with all aspects of Property Law, Wills and Probate, Licensing Law and Road Traffic Law.

Enda has played senior rugby with the Galway Corinthians RFC and Old Crescent RFC, Limerick but these days his sporting focus is firmly on hurling with his local club Killeedy GAA. As part of the intermediate panel his ambition is to see the club restored to its rightful place amongst the senior ranks. Enda's father Con, a well known local golfer and his mother Eileen hail from West Limerick and are both delighted that Enda and Peter have chosen to start a business in such challenging times.

Partner, Peter O'Dea is from the parish of Cappagh with a postal address of Rathkeale. This has forged his split personality down through his sporting life with his loyalties forever divided between Rathkeale AFC soccer club and Cappagh GAA club both of which he captains. He calls himself a player of limited abilities who is always very driven and committed. It was these qualities which saw him represent Limerick in football at minor, U21 , junior and senior levels and also contesting Muster Finals at all of these levels.

Peter spent his training period with Melvyn Hanley Solicitors in Limerick City and having qualified in 2006 he continued to practice there until 2008. Like Enda, Peter got a very broad exposure in legal practice terms. He has worked in the areas of Property Law, Family Law, Employment Law, Wills and Probate, Licensing Law, Personal Injury Litigation and Road Traffic Law.

Peter's father Denis is a well known local builder. His mother Mary describes herself as a homemaker and reminds Peter at every opportunity of the amount of work she did to keep football gear clean for him and his two sports mad siblings over the years. Peter's grandfather also Peter O'Dea was a well known personality in West Limerick and was the general manager of the Golden Vale Mart in Rathkeale for many years before his retirement some years ago.

Enda and Peter are two determined characters. They have a specific business model in mind for their practice and it is one which they are adamant will reap dividends for themselves and their clients. They are offering, as they see it, a new fresh approach to legal services. Frequent and clear communication with their clients will be of paramount importance, flexibility in meeting times and a willingness to travel to meet clients if required will all form part of their client focused service. Contactable even outside of ordinary business hours and with an emphasis on efficient and thorough progression of files they believe that O'Connor O'Dea Solicitors, while always looking to the future can offer you an excellent legal service right now.
